LGBT Palliative Care Workshop

Meeting the palliative and end of life care needs of gender and sexual minorities

19th MARCH 2018 | 5 PM - 7 PM

Presented by

Claude Chidiac, MSc, CNS, FHEA
Lecturer in Palliative Care, Saint Francis Hospice, UK. Programme Director Palliative Care, London South Bank University

Guest speaker

Prof Kathryn Almack
Health, Young People and Family lives, University of Hertfordshire

About the workshop

This workshop is for health and social care professionals, and students who work or have interest in palliative care, or provide care for people with advanced illness.

The workshop explores the issues and needs of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) people with a specific emphasis on those needing and receiving palliative and end of life care. It provides participants with the opportunity to reflect on and identify ways of providing culturally competent care for LGBT people, and their families and partners within a palliative care context.

Learning objectives

1. Describe the common terminology and acronyms related to gender and sexual minorities
2. Discuss LGBT-related stressors
3. Identify LGBT-specific issues and needs in palliative care
4. Work towards applying innovative methods to provide LGBT-friendly service
